A controversy is now that so for the money. One would imagine that pulled off quietly full three weeks ago is minutes and 27 seconds were the figures given—faster time than the Thames course ever saw before. But Coach Wray dispelled the temporary gloom. "If they did, we'll have to go faster, that's all," he said.

Yale Changes Programme.

Yale changed her usual programme this morning. Her crews all went up river instead of rowing dawn past the Harvard quarters as usual.

Harvard went out and practiced starts. First Mr. Wray took the freshmen four, then the 'Vansity four, These all covered two or three miles, paying especial attention to individual form in the boat, and practicing starts. Then came the 'Varsity with a mile and a half pull straight down stream at a swift page. Coming back the
